STATE ENGINEER APPOINTS DEPUTY STATE ENGINEER

Cheyenne, WY, October 2012 –

Wyoming State Engineer, Patrick T. Tyrrell wishes to announce the appointment of Greg W. Lanning, P.E. to the position of Deputy State Engineer effective October 22, 2012. Mr. Lanning replaces Harry C. LaBonde who was appointed to the Director of Water Development by Governor Mead on July 23, 2012.

Mr. Lanning was born and raised in Wyoming and graduated from the University of Wyoming with a bachelor's degree in Civil Engineering and Masters of Business Administration. He also has a Master's degree in Civil Engineering from Colorado State University. Mr. Lanning's career experience includes work as a private civil engineering consultant, Wyoming DEQ water quality engineer and an engineer and administrator in local government. Most recently he has served as the Director of Public Works for the City of Pocatello, Idaho. He is a registered Professional Engineer in the State of Wyoming.

State Engineer Patrick T. Tyrrell congratulates Greg on his appointment. "We welcome Greg to this important position with the State Engineer's Office. I look forward to the contributions his experience and energy will bring to the agency."

You may contact the Cheyenne office at 307-777-6150.
